A GUIDE TO OUR PREMIUM PERFORMANCE FIBERS

From our spinning mill to your home.

Capel braids, our signature product category, represent the heart of what Capel does:

unite quality materials with beautiful, handcrafted design. Practical yet indulgent, artisanal yet affordable, Capel braids continue to be a favorite for families 100 years after their debut.

Sturdy pile, naturally stain resistant, good heat insulation. Wool braids are a prime choice for high-traffic areas, such as living rooms and hallways, or spill-prone spaces, such as dining rooms.

Soft and stable, natural product, fluffy fiber. Popular in bedrooms and sitting areas. A chenille braid can provide a cozy spot in a nursery for tummy time or helping a baby learn to crawl.

NYLON CHENILLE

Easy to clean, very durable, generally fade- and stain-resistant. Nylon braids are created to mimic the look of wool and high-quality fiber rugs at a lower price point. A great choice if you like to frequently update your style.

Secret recipes from our spinning mill, Capelsie.

We spin our own yarns in our Capelsie mill and that gives us the ability to create our own custom yarn blends. Sometimes the secret ingredients include wool for durability and toughness or nylon for resilience and suppleness.

POLYPROPYLENE

The most fade- and stain-resistant material, extremely durable. Polypropylene is the material we use to make our indoor-outdoor braids. Polypropylene is also a smart choice under a dining table because it is so easy to clean.

THOMPSON IKAT

Thompson Ikat is a printed interpretation of the ikat technique of weaving. "Clouded" patterns, known as ikats (pronounced e-cots), reflect the use of tie-dyed warp threads in the weaving process. As popular then as they are today, ikats offer style and flair that are timeless.
